In the selection of objects for premiums, your Committee have had chiefly in view, the introduction into our gardens of some of those indigenous shrubs, whose rare beauty (in their opinion) deserve, and which they confidently hope will obtain the notice of the Society. They have no doubt that our own country is rich in ornamental trees and shrubs, which if more generally known and cultivated, would be as generally admired and appreciated; and they cannot but regret, that while so much labor and care have been bestowed upon exotics inferior in beauty, our native plants have literally been left "to waste their fragrance on the desert air." Feeling confident that many if not all the indigenous shrubs abounding in our vicinity, may be naturalized to an upland soil, and even improved by cultivation, they have been induced to offer premiums for such as they think will well repay the labor of cultivation. All which is respectfully submitted, by order of the Committee.

R. L. EMMONS, Chairman.

Note. None but the members of the Society are entitled to the premiums offered in the reports of the three Committees.

The Committees No. 1 and 2, meet at the Society's Hall, No. 52, North Market Street, every Saturday, generally, for the examination of any articles that may be left for premium, or exhibition.

NOTICE.

ETT is one of the objects and the wish of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, to promote and improve the science of Horticulture, by the introduction of the seeds of new varieties of culinary vegetables and ornamental plants—the trees and scions of superior fruits, from any parts of the world,—and the formation of a Library, to comprise all the standard works on Horticulture, as well as the various periodical publications devoted to the subject, now published in Europe and the United States. Any donations of seeds, scions, roots, drawings of fruits, models of new implements of use in Horticulture, or donations to the Library, may be sent to the Society's Hall, No. 52 North Market Street, Boston, consigned to the care of Mr J. B. Russell, general Agent for the Society.—All donations of the above kind from other Societies, or from individuals at a distance, will be duly appreciated by the members, and reciprocated as far as practicable.

In order to correct the great confusion that now prevails in the names of fruits, and to establish their synonymes, it is desirable that specimens may be sent to the Society's Hall, in their season, for examination; and also specimens of all valuable sorts that may be considered native varieties.
